CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:21-cv-00911

(RAMBO, J.)
(SAPORITO, M.J.)

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

This is a federal civil rights action, brought by a pro se former prisoner against three unidentified employees of the Federal Bureau of Prisons (“BOP”), arising out of conditions of confinement prior to his release from prison.

The complaint in this action was filed upon delivery to the Clerk on May 19, 2021. (Doc. 1.) Because the complaint was not accompanied by either payment of the requisite $402 filing and administrative fees or a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis in this action, an administrative order was issued by the Clerk, directing the plaintiff to pay the fee or submit an application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis within 30 days. (Doc. 3.)

Having received no response from the plaintiff, the Court dismissed the action on June 30, 2021. (Doc. 4.) One week later, on June 7, 2021, the Clerk received and processed a postal money order from the plaintiff made out in the full amount due—$402. (Doc. 5.)

On September 20, 2021, the plaintiff filed the instant pro se letter-motion requesting that the Court reconsider its dismissal order and reopen the case, which we have liberally construed as a motion filed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b).<sup>1</sup> (Doc. 7.) In his letter-motion, the plaintiff represented that he mailed his $402 postal money order on May 26, 2021—the date it was issued—and he attributed its late delivery to the United States Postal Service. He also included a photocopy of his receipt for the postal money order, which clearly identifies the payee as the Clerk of this Court, and the date of issuance as May 26, 2021.

Here, it appears that the plaintiff acted diligently in attempting to comply with the time constraints imposed by the administrative order, mailing full payment of the requisite filing and administrative fees approximately three weeks before the deadline established by that order.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> A motion to reopen is a dispositive motion requiring us to issue a report and recommendation. Yunik v. McVey, Civil Action No. 2:08-cv-1706, 2013 WL 3776794, at *2 (W.D. Pa. July 17, 2013).

<sup>2</sup> We note also that the plaintiff resides in Connecticut, making an over-the-counter tender of the filing and administrative fees impractical.

Yet, for reasons apparently attributable to the postal service, the Clerk's receipt of that payment was delayed until nearly three weeks after the deadline. Moreover, no apparent prejudice to the unnamed defendants would result from re-opening this case.

Under the circumstances presented, we find reconsideration of the dismissal order and re-opening of this case appropriate under Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(1). See Lewis v. Alexander, 987 F.2d 392, 396–97 (6th Cir. 1993). Alternatively, we find it appropriate under that same rule's catchall provision. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(6).

Accordingly, it is recommended that:

1. The plaintiff's pro se motion for reconsideration (Doc. 7) be GRANTED;
2. The Court's dismissal order (Doc. 4) be VACATED
3. The Clerk be directed to RE-OPEN this case; and
4. The matter be remanded to the undersigned for further proceedings.
